PEACE KIDNAPERS A TEMPTOR CLOUT ARKANSAS TOWN

FREE CAPTIVES WHEN CHASED BY OFFICERS

Street Lights, Armed Guard Balk Plan of Desperadoes

Rison, Ark., June 6 (AP)—A band of between five and seven heavily armed men, whom Sheriff J. P. Morrison said he believed were fleeing Kansas convicts, were thwarted in an attempt to loot this town today after the early morning kidnapping of the night watchman.

Lights were turned on and an armed guard of citizens patrolled the streets after the alarm was given that Deputy Sheriff W. A. Fore, night watchman, and J. R. Perkins and Sam Rogers, a negro, had been kidnaped by three armed men.

Thompson, wakened by Perkins and Rogers who had come to deliver a load of hay, witnessed the kidnapping of the men when he got up to meet Perkins and heard them tell Fore they would return to "not five or six miles." Their car bore an Oklahoma license.

Thompson notified Sheriff Morrison who ordered the town's lights turned on and assembled a citizen patrol.

Fore, Perkins and the negro were released on the Rison-Pine highway about two hours later when the gang traveling in two automobiles spotted a carload of officers from Pine Bluff. The Pine Bluff officers picked up Fore and his companions and gave chase, but were outdistanced.

Fore said his captors drove himself and his companions to a wooded spot three miles from Rison where they met another car occupied by three or four men armed with sawed-off shot guns. The captives were taken under the guard of one man, the five or six other members of the gang piled into two automobiles and headed back to Rison. In half hour Fore said they returned, their looking planes evidently thwarted by the presence of the armed guard.

Fore and his companions were ordered into one of the cars which contained a collection of safe-breaking tools. Both cars then headed toward Pine Bluff. Five miles south of that city they passed the automobile in which Pine Bluff officers were responding to an alarm sent out by Sheriff Morrison that the gang was headed north. The gang stopped for a moment, and released Fore and his companions with an apology for having taken Fore so far from his post.

BRANDEIS LEFT ON WAY TO CAPE

U. S. Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis, a bit thinner but evidently in firm health and strength despite his 78 years, left for his summer home at Cape Cod this afternoon after a brief stay in Boston.

He said that he would await the arrival of news photographers, Justice Brandeis said, "I would prefer the American to make a mental picture of me."

He said that the men, and women, in the public mind who are legion are almost exhausted by the hostile strain of the attempt to promote business recovery and national prosperity.

He thought they were "doing quite well" with their task. "At least they are trying."

Mrs. Brandeis accompanied him. The former member of the Supreme Court team of Holmes and Brandeis—the venerable former Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes—was expected to arrive in Boston from Washington this week on route to his summer vacation on the North Shore.

Clowns Heroes in School Fire

As a circus caravan moved through Lexington today a clown played the part of a hero, saving the life of a Paul Revere school child and a fireman. The clown, who was a fireman, acted, it wasn't a real fire, but a stage was built up. A stage was built up at the junction of the four corners. Thinking it was a house, the clown rushed to the windows and banged on them to arouse the occupants.

The other ran a mile knocking on doors to sound the alarm. The third moved the chemical apparatus of the caravan to the side of the burning structure, and before the arrival of the apparatus the fire was extinguished.

Big Increase in Jobs Given by State Employment Bureau

A big increase in the number of requests for persons to fill jobs during May, was reported today by the Massachusetts State Employment Office, 189 Congress st.

Requests increased 76 per cent over the number received during April. The number of positions filled increased 60 per cent.

This is the first month in a year to show a volume of business exceeding the corresponding month last year.

Mrs. Costello Poses for Pre-Trial Photographs

HER JAIL YARD SMILE

Mrs. Jessie B. Costello, soon to face judge and jury on charge of killing her husband, Peabody fire department captain, left her cell yesterday and walked into the recreation yard at the Salem jail, to pose for press photographs. The Boston Evening American again scored a beat, showing the first pictures in the late editions of yesterday. This was the first time that the poison-widow has

"I'M IN THE PINK"—SHE SHOUTED posed since she went into jail to await trial. A few days ago the Boston American, however, caught Mrs. Costello as she visited a Peabody dentist. This was another exclusive picture by the American. Here we have four studies of Mrs. Costello, whose love life will be opened up to public gaze in the prosecution attempt to prove that she poisoned her husband. (Boston American Photos.)

Rides Night Mare Right Into River

Westfield, June 6 (AP)—Early riders were started today, and some of them were shot when they saw a dark steed, 18, racing down the street in his night shirt. On all appearances a fugitive from some pursuing horror, the animal was across the bridge that spans the Westfield river, Dalesdale leaped into the stream. Cries of spectators brought Patrolman Michael Keefe O'Rourke, who was out shoring as much as his badge, dived in and rescued Dalesdale.

Dalesdale told O'Rourke he was fleeing from a nightmare. The animal was shot and killed. The convention of the medical society, which opened yesterday with more than 1000 doctors registered today heard papers read on radiology and physiology by specialists in those fields.

PEACE ASSURED, SAYS IL DUCE

Rome, June 6 (AP)—Premier Mussolini, opening the meeting of the Senate today, said that negotiations upon the four-power pact have reached such a stage that from one moment to another a conclusion upon it will arrive. The premier said that he would address the senators on the subject tomorrow afternoon if necessary.

Paris, June 6 (INS)—The way was cleared for a 10-year guarantee of European peace when the French government authorized its League of Nations mission to the four-power peace pact sponsored by Premier Mussolini. The government's assent to the four-power proposal was given at a meeting of the council of ministers.

Barbara Frost to Be Bridesmaid

New York, June 6 (AP)—Plans have been completed for the marriage, on June 14, of Miss Eliza Waggoner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Paul Waggoner of Fort Worth, Texas, and New York, and Arthur Gordon Bowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Bowman of Long Island. The ceremony will be performed in the chapel of St. Elizabeth's Church.

The bridesmaids will include Barbara Frost of Boston.

Lieut.-Comdr. Stone Goes to Newport

Washington, June 6 (AP)—Navy Department Public Affairs Officer Lieut.-Comdr. Irving E. Stone (MC) detached naval hospital, Lehigh Island, Philadelphia, to Newport, R. I., naval hospital.

Dr. Stone, who was on duty at various times, continued duty at Naval War College, Newport.

Costello Trial Postponed for Week

WAY MRS. COSTELLO WILL APPEAR AT TRIAL

"This is the way I'll appear at the trial," explained Mrs. Costello, as she returned from her cell and appeared in the recreation yard accompanied by the jail matron, Mrs. Rachael Craig. You see she is dressed entirely in black. Mrs. Costello was anxious to please photographers and talked freely to reporters, but she was eager for the trial. As she chatted with reporters, Mrs. Craig took her by the arm and said, "Come on, hurry up."

The interview was over.

NO JAIL SENEY

Mrs. Costello refused to be photographed inside the jail. She didn't want bars and guards and iron doors to appear in background of pictures.

Mayor in Cap and Gown for M. I. T.

Mayor Curley left his silk topcoat at home today and appeared in a new role. He wore a cap and gown the night of the annual graduation exercises at M. I. T.

Although it was known that Mayor Curley was a guest, he was hardly recognized at his own and that he was with the usual rabble.

400 Girls Strike in New Bedford

New Bedford, June 6—Four hundred employees of the New Bedford Mfg. Co., makers of palmira reeds, went on strike today in protest against low wages ranging they say from $3.50 to $5.50 a week for 48 hours.

Extra Work Prevents General Layoff at Boston Navy Yard

Washington, June 6 (AP)—A layoff of 1200 civilian workers at the Boston Navy Yard, announced today by the Navy Department, was averted by a conference of Massachusetts senators and representatives and Navy Secretary Roosevelt.

As a result of the conference, Assistant Secretary Roosevelt and Chief of Naval Operations, agreed to transfer to Boston work previously assigned to other yards—work sufficient to reduce the layoff to not more than 200 men, who were expected to be taken on with the understanding their work would be only temporary.

Democrats Look to Ely for Cue in Hurley Candidacy

By BERNARD J. DOHERTY

Gov. Ely declined to make a statement. State Treasurer Charles F. Hurley, who has been looked upon as a sure candidate, dismissed the matter with the remark that "any man has a right to aspire for that office."

The Hurley camp claimed chief interest because it was an "ice breaker." It was taken for granted that before making this decisive move, Hurley first had the assurance of Gov. Ely that he is definitely out of the game.

While other candidates are now looked for, the feeling persists in spite of the governor's wish to retire, that circumstances may force him to reconsider his decision.

Among those flirting with the nomination in addition to State Treasurer Charles F. Hurley, Stanley King, president of the United Fruit Co., and Thomas C. Murphy, former district attorney of Suffolk.

Hurley justified his candidacy in a speech last night before the Inman Square Businessmen's Association in Cambridge.

POLICE BLAMED BY FOLEY FOR GUSTIN REIGN

By the MASKED REPORTER
(Copyright, 1933, by the Boston Evening American)

Police and not the prosecutors in the courts are in blame for the continued ease with which law breakers and racketeers, such as the Gustin gangster, continually grow free. It was charged today by District Attorney William J. Foley.

When Attorney General Cummings called a conference of district attorneys for next Saturday to discuss concerted methods for crushing out the gangsters and crime, District Attorney Foley immediately began compiling material to place before the meeting.

Foley has in his possession various press clippings of utterances purported to have been made by police and public officials by police officials particularly planning upon courts and prosecutors the blame for the Gustin reign.

GUSTIN'S ONE TERM
His search of the records of his office and of Superior court went back to the time the district attorney took office in January, 1927, and this is what he found: That what will be placed before the "crime conference" next Saturday.

Despite his long list of arrests, the late Frankie Wallace was in the jurisdiction of the Suffolk prosecutor and Superior court only once.

On that day—Jan. 5, 1931—Frankie was sentenced to a month in the House of Correction, and fined $50 for illegal transportation of liquor. He got another month for operating as a salaried driver, and 10 days for operating as a salaried driver, and his license had been revoked.

His older brother, Steve Wallace, now missing and wanted by police, has even a longer police record than Frankie, but Steve has been within jurisdiction of the district attorney and Superior court only three times.

OTHERS' RECORDS
In January, 1927, he was found not guilty of robbery by a jury. Also in 1927 Steve was found guilty of a drunkenness charge and fined $15. On the third occasion he was brought before the grand jury on a robbery charge, but John "Red" Nelson, a Gustin gangster serving time in state prison, appeared before the grand jury and took the rap.

Jimmie Wallace, the youngest brother, who also is wanted by police, has been within the higher jurisdiction only twice, although he has a long police record. In August, 1928, the grand jury returned a bill on arrest with battery charge, and in March, 1929, he was sentenced to two years for recovery of an automobile.

FEDERAL DRIVE ON RACKETEERS

Washington, June 4 (AP)—Attorney General Homer Cummings today had issued a plea for public support in the government's drive against racketeers. He emphasized the campaign necessarily will be long and arduous because of the firmly entrenched position of the racketeers.

"We are pursuing what we believe is a steady, well-developed plan. There is nothing spasmodic or sensational about it," he said.

"The country has become infected with racketeers and we have endured them all too long. We need the support of law-abiding citizens. We welcome all support we can get against this evil."

The question of co-ordination between state and federal authorities, which has engaged the students of criminology for many years, is an important problem that must be met, it was pointed out.

Toscanini Balks, Won't Conduct

Milan, June 4 (AP)—Arturo Toscanini has notified the management of the Bayreuth Music Festival that he will not conduct a Wagnerian program there June 29 because his sentiments as a man and an artist were hurt by the Nazi anti-Jewish attitude.

The famous director said he and 35 other musicians had protested some time ago to Chancellor Hitler of Germany against treatment of Jews in Germany but had not received a reply.

THE GUSTIN GANG Gem Theft Traced to Gustin Gang Cost Sleuth Life

By THE MASKED REPORTER
(Copyright, 1933, by the Boston Evening American)

In a variety of illegal fields the black sheep Gustin gangsters and their obedient black lambs gambol, and in one of their side lines of crime they played lead to cold-blooded murder.

A total of 14 major jewelry "snatches" have been traced to local thieves, according to the files of a nationally-known private investigator who, for 22 months, was employed by the largest jewelers' association in America to run down gem and jewelry thefts.

On at least three occasions these records show Gustin Gang leaders engineered the defeat of justice through what is known in criminal law as "kicking the stuff back."

In one of these instances, George Small, a private detective for more than 20 years, and a man who worked on some of the highest jewelry robberies in the country, including robberies of the notorious Whittemore Gang whose four-year haul totaled above $1,000,000, was slugged to death in the vestibule of his home in Eighth st., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Small knew the Gustin leaders and the Gustin leaders knew him. They had met—only a short time before the murder, as a matter of fact—and Small had the temerity to turn in a detailed report about their activities in this particular jewelry "kick-back."

Learn $50,000 Gem Robbery Details

This detective's ill-fated introduction to the Gustin Gang came about in the fall of 1928 when Small came to Boston to investigate the "snatching" of a suitcase containing $35,000 worth of jewelry in the cafeteria of a downtown hotel.

Small, with the aid of local detectives, not only investigated this bold robbery but he went a step further and followed along the trail of another jewelry robbery when he discovered this trail had an opening here.

A sample case containing $50,000 worth of jewelry had been stolen from the Broad street station of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Philadelphia where Small did not get far on his investigation of the Boston jewelry theft; he did get somewhere in clearing up the robbery at Philadelphia.

With Small stumbling against him in Boston and him to reach an agreement with certain parties that the Philadelphia jewelry would be "kicked back" or returned intact on payment of $10,000 to the open holding it.

Negotiations such as these go into several days and involve much delicacy on both sides, for on the one hand the buyers stand to lose all the jewelry if anything is found and the agreement of immunity is not kept, while on the other hand the holders of the stolen goods stand to lose a sure cash price which they might not be able to raise on a forced sale on any day.

More Loot Given Up Than Was Stolen

When the negotiations were completed the parties met in a Boston hotel room—Small and a representative of the insurance company, playing on one team, and a prominent Boston criminal lawyer, accompanied by the Gustin Gang member, playing on the other.

The Philadelphia jewelry was delivered, and Small and the insurance man drew apart from the room, and took inventory of the valuable.

And what was their amazement to discover that not only was all the Philadelphia jewelry there and accounted for—but there were also three pieces of jewelry which formed part of the loot of another big haul.

This was the Gustin gang linked up with this other robbery, either the thieves or as the Gustin thieves or as the Gustin thieves or as the Gustin thieves.

When Small got back to New York he made the mistake fatal for him, as it proved—of putting all this information into a 12-page to attack the saloon wenchy apd.

Flies Fight Tree Menace
Fredrickson, June 4 (AP)—New Brunswick forestry officials have a new and menacing pest to deal with this year and have imported 200 predatory flies from England to attack the balsam woolly apd.

BROOKLINE MAN FACES 8 YEARS IN PRISON

Warren E. Cliff, 32, of Brookline, today beset the power that his wife can exert over him.

Facing arraignment as a parole violator, with the prospect of eight years in prison, Cliff said:

"She knows she can put me back there; and once she gets me back there, she knows she can get me out whenever I promise to come down off my high horse. But I'm through. It's really a case of too much mother-in-law, but I'm through, just the same."

Cliff has been much in the limelight. In 1928 he killed his bride in New Jersey, but a jury decided his jealous nature and that he made him emotionally irresponsible, and he was convicted of manslaughter. He was released after less than a year in prison.

Next he married Mariel Crandall, a dancer. She sued him for divorce, but later went to court and had it revoked. Last night he was arrested on request of New Jersey authorities.

"A week and a half ago we separated again," said Cliff. "I believe she has written to the New Jersey authorities about our separation."

"The reason for my leaving her was her refusal to write to the authorities, as she had promised, retracting all her accusations against me at the time of the divorce trial."

"She went to her mother's in Brookline and I am living at my mother's, and my wife has telephoned more than 100 times. I don't want to talk to her through. But I don't want to go back to prison."

UNITED FRONT BY DEMOCRATS

Boston's Democratic city committee plans to line itself solidly behind a Democratic candidate in the coming municipal election to prevent the election of any enrolled Republican.

Chairman of the various ward committees met at the Parker House last night and agreed to this plan. The candidate they will support has not yet been named by them. Pres. John W. Newman urged the various ward chairmen to remain neutral until they saw who was the best man in the field and then endorse and elect him.

The committee also went on record in a set of resolutions as favoring the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. They will hold a public rally in the repeal prohibition rally to be held at noon in Faneuil Hall.

Island Sought for Yachtsmen's Fete

Washington, June 5 (AP)—Sen. Walsh and Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts asked Assistant Secretary Woodring of the War Department to intercede in behalf of the Massachusetts Yacht Club Association which seeks permission to hold its annual outing in July at Peddocks Island in Boston harbor.

Permission has been refused because army officials reported the island was not in a condition to accommodate a large number of boats. Sen. Walsh and Rep. McCormack told Woodring the association, comprising 25 yacht clubs, was willing to spend its own funds to prepare and police the grounds.

Worcester Youth Drowns in Reservoir

Worcester, June 5 (AP)—Arrangements will be announced for the funeral of Raymond Varg, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustaf Varg, of Wallace ave., Auburn, who was drowned in Stoneville Reservoir yesterday while swimming with another youth.

The youth was swimming to a small island in the pond and were within 25 feet of shore when Varg was seized with cramps. He sank and was drowned despite efforts of his companions to aid him.

Once divorced and then reunited with her husband, only to part from him a second time, Mrs. Mariel Crandall Cliff of Brookline learned of the arrest of her husband, Warren E. Cliff, today as a parole violator from New Jersey. Cliff, convicted as a wife killer in New Jersey, is believed to be held for failure to report to authorities. He declared that "it's a case of too much in-laws." (Boston American.) Story on Page 11.

Holmes on Way to Beverly; Says New 'Alice' Is Boon to U. S.

Washington, June 6 (AP)—Former Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, who was 52 years old last March, leaves the capital today for his home at Beverly Farms, Mass.

Although no longer an active member of the Supreme Court, Justice Holmes maintains a practice adjacent to the court.

For years it was the habit of the court to end its term on the first Monday in June and Mr. Holmes still clings to it, arranging his plans to leave for his summer vacation on the first Tuesday of the month, even though free to depart before hot weather strikes the capital.

Normally showing himself but little to the public and uniformly refusing interviews, the former justice's enthusiasm over a new edition of "Alice in Wonderland" was revealed today.

LINDSEY BANS APOLOGY

Denver, June 6 (AP)—Ben B. Lindsey, former Denver juvenile judge, lost his appeal for reinstatement to the bar of Colorado, won a possible re-entry through the door of apology and promptly slammed that door shut in the face of the Colorado Supreme Court.

With two justices dissenting, the Supreme Court ruled that Lindsey would not be reinstated until he had apologized for statements concerning the court in a book he wrote after his disbarment.

With characteristic decision the fiery "little judge" declared in Los Angeles that he would never apologize and charged anew that the disbarment was a greater reflection on the court than himself.

He was disbarred in 1928 for accepting $37,300 from Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes and her children for his services as a mediator in a controversy over the estate of the late W. E. D. Stokes. A guardianship suit over the children had been before him as juvenile judge.

ELECTION ROW HEARING SOON

Washington, June 6 (AP)—Collection of evidence in the election contest filed by former Gov. Ralph P. Brewster, Republican, of Dexter, Me., for the seat now held by Rep. John G. Ullrich of Bangor, will be commenced June 19.

Ullrich, yesterday filed his answer to the notice of contest filed May 8 by Brewster, and disclosed that he and Brewster had agreed at a conference last week upon June 19 as the date for beginning the collection of evidence.

Under the laws governing election contests, Brewster now has 40 days to gather evidence to support his allegations of frauds and irregularities in the election in the Third Maine District last November, after which an equal period will be given to Ullrich.

Good Times Back; Payrolls Up

Fall River, June 6—Fall River payrolls, which have been gradually swinging upward, showed a further increase today over the figures of last week and also an increase over the corresponding period of a year ago.

A total of $481,206 will be paid out for last week, as compared with $366,563 for the same period last year. In the textile industry alone the increase in a year was $100,000 to a total payroll of $229,848.

ABOVE ARE 16 MEMBERS OF THE SENATE COMMITTEE ON BANKING AND CURRENCY. THE FULL MEMBERSHIP OF THE COMMITTEE CONSISTS OF 20 SENATORS.

CITIZENS OF THE UNITED STATES:

THE investigation of private international bankers and their connections with foreign governments and with your public officials is of vital importance to you and to your government and to the preservation of American institutions.

It is your civic duty to interest yourselves personally in this investigation and to see that all the facts are uncovered which may lead to the improvement of the political and financial conditions in this, YOUR country.

It is your duty to try to prevent the surrender of the best interests of your country to advantage foreign peoples and foreign powers.

It is your duty to see that your government is conducted honestly and conscientiously for the public good.

It is your duty to see that certain great financial magnates do not have more influence with your public officials than you have, and also to see that sinister influences are not exercised in secret and in sinister manner to decide elections and determine legislation in ways which are contrary to your wish and your welfare.

YOU should know how it is that the House of Morgan is the virtual governing body of this country; how it is that Mr. John Pierpont Morgan, a private citizen, possesses more political power than your President.

You now have an opportunity to learn how it is that great international bankers control conventions and nominate candidates in both parties and secure friendly representations in public office no matter which party is elected.

You now have an opportunity to decide whether you shall run your country in your own interests, or whether great international bankers shall run this great country in their interests, or, worse, in the interests of those foreign nations with which most of their business as international bankers is done.

Do not allow this unique opportunity to learn facts and to reform conditions to slip by you. It may be a long time before you have another

President who was NOT nominated by the House of Morgan and is NOT controlled by big financial interests.

IT MAY be a long time before you have another chance to investigate and disclose the devious ways of big business to control politics and plunder the public.

It may be a long time before you have such another honest, fearless investigating attorney as clever and courageous Ferdinand Pecora.

Citizens of the United States, you know your duty and you realize your opportunity.

It is your business to see that the senatorial investigation continues thoroughly and vigorously and honestly and impartially until the full facts are disclosed.

It is your business to support your fine independent President.

It is your business to back up your able investigating attorney.

It is your business to make your senatorial investigating committee INVESTIGATE and not expostulate, and procrastinate, and prevaricate, and deviate, and duck and dodge, and try to evade their obligation to their country and to YOU, the public.

EVERY little banker in every Senator's home state and home town is telling his Senators to "lay off" the great god Morgan.

But, after all, the Senators are not THEIR Senators. They are your Senators.

Do your duty to your country and yourselves.

Call up your Senators, or telegraph your Senators, or write your Senators, or send them postcards, and tell your Senators to go ahead with the good work of the investigation and bring out all the facts, and do their full duty and not be influenced by the big financial interests, or the little financial interests, or any interests but the best interests of the American people they are hired to represent.

Maybe, citizens of the United States of America, if you do your duty in this emergency the Senators will do theirs.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

HEARST RIGHT, SAYS SENATOR

Washington, June 6 (UPI)—A majority of the American people believe they are being "misrepresented at the Court of St. James" by Ambassador Robert W. Bingham, Senator Arthur R. Robinson, R., of Indiana, declared in the Senate.

This statement was made by Robinson as he inserted in the Congressional Record an editorial from the Hearst newspaper demanding the recall of Bingham for declaring in a speech the traditional American policy of neutrality had been scrapped.

"This editorial, entitled, 'Who Yell the Aes In Ambassador', demanding the recall of this envoy, expressed the feeling of a majority of the American public," said Robinson.

Grand Jury to Act on 50 Rum Violators

The Federal grand jury convened today to consider a number of cases, including about 50 liquor law violations, a dozen counterfeit cases and other Federal law violations. Most of the liquor cases are of minor character, officials said.

Federal officials reported bank examiners will busy with the books and records of the closed Federal National Bank and that cases arising out of this investigation were not scheduled to be heard at this sitting of the jury.

Connecticut Vets Protest Slashes

Washington, June 6 (AP)—Major Anson T. McCook of Hartford, Ct., chairman of the rehabilitation committee of the American Legion, visited the city yesterday to demand that the Federal Government take an official stand, Connecticut veterans' leaders felt the bill in compensation had been "slashed."

Lineup of Morgan Committee

Washington, June 6—Members of the Senate banking and currency committee are lined up today to vote at today's executive session on the question of permitting inquiry into the income taxes of Morgan partners.

Democrats—Fletcher, Fla.; Wagner, N. Y.; Glass, Va.; Barkley, Ky.; Bulkin, Ohio; Gore, Okla.; Clegg, N. C.; McNamara, N. C.; Bankhead, Ala.; McAdoo, Cal.; Adams, Cal.

Republicans—Norbeck, R. D.; Goldsborough, Md.; Townsend, Del.; Walcott, Ct.; Carey, Wyo.; Coudens, Mich.; Slicer, Wyo.; and Kohn, N. J.

SNOWDEN IS FOR PAYING DEBT

London, June 6 (AP)—Viscount Snowden, former chancellor of the exchequer, believes "the weight of argument favors" making the June 15 payment of $750,000,000 interest on war debts Great Britain owes the United States.

The "Morning Post" newspaper article today he pointed out "there is a strong feeling in the House of Commons, the American debt," but argued that it is dangerous for any government to repudiate its bonds and more dangerous for Great Britain than any other.

"The House of Great Britain is now," he said, "in a position where, after anything that British credit would more likely force the United States from the World Economic Conference than drive it to debt revision."

Thief Loots Lynn Jeweler's Window

Lynn, Mass., June 6 (AP)—A jewelry valued at $500 was stolen from the show window of a store at 36 State St. Lynn today after a 40-year-old man had been hurried through the glass.

Living Becker of Church St., who was in the vicinity, told police he heard breaking glass, but saw no one.

MISSING WOMAN FOUND IN WOODS

While hundreds of Boy Scouts and members of the fire department were searching for Mrs. Harold G. Smith, 33, of Burton, South Weymouth, she was found today in deep woodland, nearly three miles from home by Arthur Durbach, a 12-year-old Boy Scout.

Drenched from wandering all night in the rain, Mrs. Smith was found sitting under a tree when the lad came upon her.

Young Durbach took her by the arm, led her to the main road and notified the chief of the Weymouth fire department, who had instituted the search.

Only Handful Register to Vote for Dry Repeal Delegates

Prospective beer dispensers constituted the greater portion of those who appeared at City Hall Annex today to register as voters for the election of delegates on June 13 to the coming Constitutional Convention for consideration of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Scores of local stockholders and restaurateurs, while qualified to register as voters, never availed themselves of the privilege with the result that when required to submit a voting certificate with their applications for beer licenses, they were unable to do so and were denied such permits.

Registration of voters today for the special election next Tuesday

KNIFE MAY SAVE JENNY DOLLY

Paris, June 6 (UPI)—Jenny Dolly, one of the dancing stars, seriously injured and disfigured in a recent automobile accident, will probably be operated upon in an attempt to save her life and restore her beauty. It was revealed today. Eminent surgeons are already conferring on how the operation may best be performed.

Jenny's sister, Renika Dolly, 19, told of their plans for the injured girl.

"Jenny will undergo plastic surgery to restore her face after the operation," she said. "Then she will spend one or two years in a small villa in France."

Ten Are Held in Badger Game

Police of the Warren area, stationed by Lieut. Hinchey and Sgt. Dunaway, arrested four women and six men in the fourth end early today after several complaints by victims that a ring was working a new variation of the old "badger" game.

According to police, it was the practice of one of the girls to fall into a fake faint in the path of some prosperous-looking victim.

No sooner would the Good Samaritan stop to assist the fallen lady than he would be confronted by a man who would accuse him of flirting with his "wife."

A money settlement was demanded, and usually made. The gang will be placed in a trap tomorrow at headquarters for victim to view them.

WOMAN FAINTS AT JAIL TERM

Bacon, June 4—Mrs. Alma C. Jackson, 35, of Lafayette st., former New England Telephone Telegraph Co. cashier in Beverly, became hysterical and then collapsed today in superior court when she was sentenced to a year in jail for larceny of $751.38 from the company.

She was carried from court into an ante-room where she was revived. Then she was taken in the sheriff's car to Salem Jail to begin her term.

In September, 1931, Mrs. Jackson, an employee of the company for 18 years, was found guilty of larceny, but was placed on probation on her agreement to make restitution at the rate of $200 a year. She paid a total of $850 and payments stopped, it was alleged. Then her probation was revoked.

Speeding to Court Costs New Fine

Bangor, Me., June 6 (AP)—Abel Martin was of the opinion today that he had made money, even if one's destination is the Municipal Court to pay a fine.

The court last week imposed the fine on Martin for speeding. He had until yesterday to pay it. In his hurry to reach the court, he drove past a stop sign. He was arrested, fined $10, and ordered to serve 10 days in jail when he couldn't produce the money.

2,000,000 Gals. of Oil Purchased by State

The Tidewater Oil Company of Everett has been awarded by the state highway department of New Hampshire a contract to furnish 2,000,000 gallons of fuel for highway improvement projects throughout the state. The contract will necessitate a substantial addition to the employees of the concern.

Wife in Not Guilty Plea in Holst Death

Franklin, June 6 (AP)—Mrs. Louise Holst, 45, pleaded not guilty to the murder of her husband, Albert S. Holst, when arraigned today in district court. She was discharged from Franklin Hospital yesterday after recovering from a bullet wound, self-inflicted.

Police alleged, after her husband had been shot. Her car was found turned out Monday and she was taken back to jail.

Forest Plan Saves Quincey $3875

President Roosevelt's reforestation program, which has saved $3875 a month to the city of Quincey, Mo., was revealed today. The city will receive a substantial amount and soon will add 100 to the city, Commissioner Broberg said.

Cyrus Curtis Grouse Weaker in Illness

Cynthiana, June 6 (AP)—Cyrus H. Curtis, publisher, who is critically ill at his home in suburban Woodstock, was reported a little weaker today. Mr. Curtis has been ill more than a year from a heart ailment and the infirmities of age.

Is the Morgan Inquiry to Be Stifled?

Federal indictments on the charge of tax evasion.

A rather remarkable decision was made by the Senate sub-committee in secret confab yesterday when it refused for the present to grant its own counsel permission to go ahead with the tax phase of the present inquiry.

The Senate committee endeavored to encourage its counsel AND THE MORGAN COUNSEL to agree upon "stipulations" with respect to the potential revelations of the income tax investigation.

What an amazing performance by the Senators who comprise the banking and currency sub-committee.

Only two Senators, the chairman, Senator Fletcher, and the absent Senator Couzens, cast their votes for a wide-open, unlimited investigation. Ten Senators voted for delay in reaching a final decision as to whether or not the present inquiry will go into the taxes of the individual Morgan partners.

NOTHING pleases the Morgan camp more than delay at this moment.

It already has been announced that the Morgan inquiry would be terminated with Tuesday's session.

Does the Senate sub-committee dare to end the inquiry without permitting its counsel publicly to reveal the Morgan partners' tax transactions which have raised such a storm of protest from the Morgan counsel?

For the good of the entire country, for the education of the Senate and the Congress, the Morgan income tax investigation must be pursued to the limit.

Otherwise, there will properly arise nation-wide suspicion that the wand of the House of Morgan can still be successfully waved in the face of the public and that preferential treatment prevails for Morgan partners.

9 STATES NOW IN COLUMN FOR REPEAL

By the Associated Press
The movement for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment was on the way toward its goal today with Illinois and the eight states which previously had voted to strike the amendment from the constitution. Thirty-six states are needed for repeal.
Today the 19th state, Indiana, makes its decision at the polls. The state legislature liberated its prohibition laws earlier this year. Bishop James Cardinal, Jr., a leader among prohibition advocates.

Repeal Vote Wins Home of W. C. T. U.

Evanston, Ill., June 6 (AP)—Voters in Evanston, home of the W. C. T. U., today declared themselves overwhelmingly in favor of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. The vote in 42 of the 52 precincts was for repeal, 8311 against, 2875.
In Evanston, which never in history has seen a saloon within its borders, the voters registered disapproval of the Eighteenth Amendment.

was quoted as saying before today's vote: "If we can win in Indiana, we can prevent repeal."
The vote in Illinois yesterday was approximately four to one in favor of repeal. This was the third time in the Middle West, Michigan, where Wisconsin having blazed the repeal trail.
Four Eastern States—New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Rhode Island—and two Western States—Wyoming and Nevada—have voted for repeal of the amendment. Illinois has been the first for no state to vote for the amendment's retention in the constitution.
Before June ends, six more states will have registered their views on prohibition repeal. The states and the date of the voting are:
Massachusetts—June 14.
Connecticut, June 20.
New Hampshire—June 26.
Iowa—June 29.
California—June 27.
West Virginia—June 27.

Illinois Carried for Repeal by 4 to 1

CHICAGO, May 6 (AP)—By an overwhelming vote Illinois became the ninth state to ratify repeal of national prohibition.
Tobaccony majorities were announced for the 50 repeal precincts in the Chicago area. In the state convention in Springfield, July 10, in the Chicago area the vote was 11 to 3 for repeal and it carried the entire state by an 8 to 1 margin of four to one.

Boston Train Kills Man Taking a Nap

A man, believed to have been Earl L. Smith, 40, of Northampton, N. H., was killed today near the White N. H. & A. M. train. The N. H. & A. M. train. The driver said the man was sitting on the tracks, apparently asleep, as the train rounded a curve.

Famed Painter Dead

Norwalk, Conn., June 6 (AP)—Frederic J. Kahn, 38, painter and magazine illustrator, founder of the Illustrators' Club of New York, is dead here.

Neglect of Common Constipation is a Serious Matter

Prevent This Condition With Kelllogg's ALL-BRAN

The first question your doctor asks is whether you are constipated or not. He knows that this condition may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness. It is often the starting point of serious disease.
You can prevent and relieve common constipation so easily. Just eat a delicious cereal, once a day. Laboratory tests show that Kelllogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that found in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.
Isn't this "cereal" safer and far more pleasant than taking patent medicines—so often harmful? Two tablespoons of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.
Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kelllogg in Battle Creek.

'Quarantine Sweatshop Like Disease,' Urges Consumers' League Officer

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Indicating the need of an unpaid minimum wage commission, apart from the one already established, Miss Margaret Wiseman, secretary of the Consumers' League of Massachusetts, anticipates the time when sweatshop manufacturers will be quarantined, refused permission to do business, just like contagious diseases are set apart.
A different minimum wage commission with a different administrative set-up, whose duties will have no political affiliations either within or without the State House, on whose board will sit representatives of the cross-section of industrial life is looked for by Miss Wiseman in the near future.

Labor Papers' EXPOSE

The Consumers' League of Massachusetts supplemented the findings of the Boston Evening American and the Boston Sunday Advertiser with substantiating figures on low wages and unhealthy working conditions in Massachusetts' 750 sweatshops.
In a detailed account of the situation, Miss Wiseman said:
"The exposures of the Boston Sunday Advertiser and the Boston Evening American, with their fearless naming of sweatshops, has been one of the biggest factors in improving conditions and raising wages. Their accurate and shocking data about individual factories and their vivid pictures of sweatshop work on the lives of women and girls will create the public opinion necessary to force legislative safeguards against sweatshops."
"Without public opinion, the best of labor laws are practically valueless. The improvement which has been noted since the Boston Sunday Advertiser and the Boston Evening American began their exposure indicates in my mind the failure that publication under the minimum wage decree by the commission of the names of violators of minimum wage are not deferred in their acts by publicity."

"I feel that if we had an alert, vigorous minimum wage commission at the beginning of this depression, who published every violation and the name of every violator as the law permits them to do, we would have had fewer sweatshops. In this connection, I feel the non-commission by the minimum wage commission of having College for its failure to pay a minimum wage to 10 scrub-women, has had a far-reaching effect in setting the style for law violation and disregard and disrespect for the minimum wage law. The men who permitted this violation and who never once punished Harvard as the law requires, certainly are seriously culpable for the wide-spread flouting of minimum wage decrees."
"There is no doubt that today much of our relief work is due directly to the starvation wages paid to the employed. Now as never before the problem is one of securing adequate wages to the employed. That is necessary, of course, if we are to have a future of purchasing power. It is necessary if we are to keep at work the employees of legitimate factories, who cannot be employed at decent rates in the sweatshops. Adequate wages are necessary if we are not to have a large working class crushed in health and morale, as well as in purchasing power. It is bad enough for workers to have no jobs and to be in a private or public welfare state, but as far as morale is concerned, it is infinitely more devastating to work a full week without being able to earn enough to keep body and soul together."

NEAR BREAKING POINT
"The courage of the employed workers has been wonderful, but one wonders how long this can be kept up. Already many workers seem near the breaking point. Others are very realistic about the situation, as one said: 'God puts some up high, others down low. He puts me low, and there is nothing I can do about it.'"
"There is need for concerted community reaction if we are to prevent the sweatshop from setting new standards. Certainly those of us who know sweatshops are definitely helping in the fight against them. They are very realistic about the situation, as one said: 'God puts some up high, others down low. He puts me low, and there is nothing I can do about it.'"
"The sweatshop, of course, has many other anti-social practices of very serious consequences not only to the workers, but also to the community and to the state. They work overtime, one such shop having required girl workers to put in as much as 73 hours in one week.
"The man who pays a starvation wage of course does not give attention to proper sanitation, clean, healthful drinking water, and adequate protection to care of any of dangerous fluids, or any other necessary health safeguards."

"The greatest enemy to the al-

THE SUMMER SEASON IS WELL on its way and from this date on there has been an all-round good month for horse-owners. . . . The shows which have passed into history were well-attended and some new blood (whose aires are still in the acorn stage), has been seen taking the jumps, sals and other stunts. . . . We understand that the Gulf Stream is on its way which predicts a hot summer and good racing days. . . . As racing is more or less of a business proposition, it would seem that business principles might be applied to draw the general public to The Country Club on race days, which this year fall on June 15 and 17, and Fitchburg, John Macomber's place at Framingham Centre . . . on June 19.

Now we have about four dollars derived from the sale of a boy-inn bonds which we might be tempted to get a little sport out of to make up for lost time if we knew which horse's nose was the longest but how are we to know? Is it enough to pay a dollar to feel that we are rubbing noses (or shoulders) with horse-owners is what we are asking ourselves, or might we get a little more "horse" ourselves if we were introduced to the "field" . . .

MRS. I. T. BURR, JR. This is only one of our more or less brilliant suggestions which won't make our face red if we grabbed up and put in the bag, but just one we would like to make a few. . . . Doubtless, however, if otherwise, if some Mr. J. P. Horse-lover would give us a tip on what is necessary to win races at five furlongs or under . . . and perhaps you, too, dear public, feel that way. . . . If we receive any replies to this appeal we will put the whole batch in the paper. . . .

Will Attend Race Meet

HOWEVER, SHOULD WE be greeted by jeers and chorals? it will not dampen our buoyant spirit and we shall in all probability trickle out to the grandstand at Brookline on the days aforementioned and apply our own sturdy common-sense. . . . and resign ourselves to being poor.

Among those who will be with us (in the grandstand, we mean) will be Mr. Rudolph L. Agassiz of the Crossing, the Almy, each and every one, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, owner of "Heartbreak Hill," the favorite in the last Grand National at Aintree, England; Mrs. I. Tucker Burr, Jr., the new M. F. H. of the Norfolk Hunt Club; the Gardiner Finke, Mr. Arthur Fowler, and his daughter, Miss Jane, whose son will undoubtedly be one of the amateur jockeys riding; Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKay, three years ago, in going to the Amos Hollingsworth of Milton. . . .

Luncheon will be served in the clubhouse on race days and permission has been granted to spread a picnic luncheon under some of the beautiful elm trees at The Country Club, as they do in jolly old England, to-morrow. (More about this later.)

There is always a reason for the most apparently inexplicable happenings. . . . have you heard that Charlie Pratt, Harvard star athlete for three years ago, is going to sort of break the bonds of matrimony with the bride of a year or so ago?

Series of Teas for Mothers

AND CHARACTERISTICALLY, Mr. and Mrs. "Pete" Wiggins of Noble & Greenough House are giving a series of teas for the next 10 days for the mothers of their "boarders" . . . these informal get-togethers of parents, teachers and students will give the mothers a chance to get acquainted with their sons, maybe.

The beautiful Hunnewell estate in Wellesley was the stage on which the sweet-looking daughter of the House of Hunnewell made her social bow on Sunday afternoon. . . . and yet retiring, she made a pretty picture in her blue gown standing by her mother, Mrs. Walter Hunnewell, in black above her. . . .

The gardens were at their loveliest, rhododendrons, peonies and azaleas bursting into flower for the occasion. . . . the gardens down by the lake were too exquisite for description. . . . All of really old Bostonians, who have known the Hunnewell, and her friend, Mrs. William Endicott Dexter, gowned in blue, Mrs. Homer Richardson in a blue and white silk, Mrs. Robert Livermore, whose daughter, Gwendolyn was one of the pourers, and who will be a debutante of next season, we believe. . . .

Assisted at the Tables

MR. AND MRS. B. NASON HAMLIN and the Archie Blanchards sauntered through the beautiful gardens and Mrs. George S. West and her daughter, Dorothy, greeted their relative as she stood in line.

Lucy Howard Lee, Eleanor Shaw, Nancy Cabot and Peggy Blake assisted at the tea tables, and Mary Elizabeth Sears and her father, and mother were in the large room through which turned out for the occasion.

Dorothy Harding, Leslie Bremer, Emily Dick were among the younger group, and the Francis B. Shaw, Mrs. Henry H. Fay paid their respects to one of our important new members of the young set, Caroline Hunnewell, as she was presented to society. . . .

Mrs. Frank C. Paine of Weston gave a very enjoyable party on Saturday night at her barn in Weston for her daughter, Jean, and two of her debutante friends. . . . the garden was lighted with lanterns and dancing lasted until 2 a. m. to Jack Marchand and his orchestra. Many Winsor school classmates of the debutante were present. . . .

The bird who is so popular with the rich but not with the poor is scheduled to fly over Medford soon and visit the home of the Talbot Bakers (Polly Beale of not so long ago). . . .

Chatty Notes of Social Circles

MRS. GEORGE F. DOW, Mr. Thomas Proctor, Mrs. Sarah Wellman, Mrs. Edward Wiggins, and Mrs. Richard Allen, all residents of Topley, are opening their gardens this afternoon for the benefit of the Topley Community Club, in order to raise funds for the club to construct the support of the Topley Nurses of that town and of the town of Bedford, Mass. . . . The garden will serve tea for the guests. In the event of rain the afternoon for the benefit of the Topley Community Club, in order to raise funds for the club to construct the support of the Topley Nurses of that town and of the town of Bedford, Mass. . . .

GARDEN FEEE WILL BENEFIT DENISON HOUSE FUND

Cotton Fashion Show Planned in Milton

An additional number of Milton's socially prominent ladies have come forward to assist Mrs. Waldo H. Brown, with the garden fee that is being held at her residence next Monday in aid of the Denison House Vacation Fund, and from accounts the grounds of 195 Adams st., are likely to be thronged with enthusiastic supporters for this cause.

Among those who have been added to the committee are Miss Mary D. Hiley, and Miss Gertrude Peabody, both of Milton, who are taking charge of two of the lawn parties, being arranged for the children, also Mrs. John G. Hible, Mrs. Harland H. Hible, and Mrs. Joe Briggs, who are assisting Mrs. Gilbert King and Mrs. George H. Briggs.

Miss Eleanor Ives, a debutante of 1931, is bringing a group of Junior League to serve at the tea tables on the lawn, weather permitting, otherwise in the house. During the tea, a cotton fashion show will be given which is being arranged by Miss Helen Crosby.

For the elder, a pleasant afternoon's bazaar will be one of the attractions, while the children will be permitted to enjoy play rides, a Punch and Judy show, also buried treasure, and grab all of which will be conducted by members of the committee, who include besides those already mentioned Mrs. Lucius T. Hill, Mrs. Weston Howlands, Mrs. Wilbur Kendall, Mrs. Sarah M. Pillsbury, whose debutante daughter, Miss Sarah Pillsbury, will no doubt join in the afternoon's entertainment.

Refreshments may be obtained from Mrs. Frank M. Sawell, of Glenoe rd., Chestnut Hill.

Control, and constantly added strength to their will to live.

Anti-Semitism has become a problem of the Jews, it might almost be said, for Judaism, nevertheless, anti-Semitism, as such, is naturally the problem of non-Jews. There is no such thing as a Jewish problem, and his characteristics which provoke this uniform reaction, and the very capacity to provoke such reactions forces one to regard anti-Semitism as a pervasive problem, a derivative problem of Judaism.

There are, however, a few points to be noted. In the first place, anti-Semitism is not a new phenomenon. It has existed since the time of Christ, and it has been a constant factor in the history of the Jewish people.

It will be seen that the Jewish people came into being only artificially, as though by dikes, and were ultimately forced to overflow into the forbidden land.

Then Egypt in her turn pressed forward and took possession of the country, thus creating similar conditions to those brought into being by the Babylonians—their flames up the wandering tribes. Consequently, about 1400 B. C. Semitic groups once again invaded Palestine in force. But on this occasion the people concerned were a special clan of that race—the Hebrews.

Restore Smuggling: Break in Nerves Averted

By Gilbert Selides

"What are you going to do about rubber?" The answer, for most of us, is that we are going to do nothing whatever about rubber, but the question was thrown at me, by a brilliant economist, because I had suggested, not too seriously, an entirely new plan for international trade. My plan has the advantage of simplicity, it can be expressed in a sentence; but the economist was not satisfied on account of rubber. Without rubber, no automobile tires; without tires, no cars; without cars, no prosperity. It begins to appear that my plan defeats itself, because I am interested in restoring prosperity, not in destroying it. However, one thing is certain: the international trade entirely. I offer it to the London Conference. It is as practical as any scheme the conferees are likely to discuss and is more likely to be adopted than any scheme they will offer. Instead of fiddling with international trade, tariffs, gold standards, and the like, let them drop the whole subject. Without international trade, no tariff walls; without walls, no quarrels; without quarrels, no wars. And—a great advantage to consider—no investments in Peruvian bonds.

Hidden Black Man Lawrence Dennis is the man to consult on the connection between foreign bonds and domestic depression; Mr. Dennis does not get enthusiastic over the idea of selling $500 worth of Peruvian bonds to Peru and floating a $100 bond issue so that Peru can pay for the machinery and the tools of peace and penitence. It is in his book, "Capitalism Doomed," that he gives the impression that there was a nigger in the woodpile, even if the bonds didn't sink from $100 to 75 a cent.

There are, of course, many ways to keep out of the foreign bond business, but the best one is not to have any foreign trade. In that case, the only way to make enough pants only for your family in America, you do not manufacture a million pairs of pants to sell in Germany and then in competition with German and Japanese and Turkish pants-makers.

It is at this point that my economist friend brings up rubber and threatens me with all sorts of pains and penalties. It is quite clear that he thinks I am mentally deranged, a quack, and a dangerous citizen. To me it is equally clear that as long as the world is full of neurasthenics, being out five for one and people were pulling it off, and they said, forgetting about it. Between getting themselves psycho-analyzed, getting rich, and getting divorced, the majority of human beings were far from "a normal state of living." A considerable number of them are in their throes to specialise in nervous disorders; the others make life unbearable for their friends and relatives.

All this may be true, but I see more simple reason for the prophesy that the number of patients in neurological institutions will now decrease. We're going to use them just as much and we won't leave them. We're going to be healthy in spite of ourselves.

Prize Winner Rebels A novelty almost equal to the man biting a dog occurred in the number of the Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes, announced that he was going to pay out the prize money to the beer he could drink and would, for some time after that, take things easy. What is more he is going to give up his job.

This is refreshing. Most winning effort prize money makes a speech, which becomes followed by tradition, about the money making no difference to them and eliciting to their job with the dear old company which has underpaid them for the past 50 years and putting the money in a savings bank and perhaps giving a lot to the poor. You may do all that with a million money; but money on your own makes no difference to a man.

Safe and Sane It will be a consolation to several hundred manufacturers and financiers to learn that the world, in getting itself out of a nervous breakdown and for

MATTEN FLIES TO OMSK IN WORLD HOP.

hour clip across the ocean from Newfoundland to Norway.

Head winds were strong between Moscow and Omsk, slowing up his normal speed, but he knew that he was running into generally unsettled and lousy weather, complicated by winds.

Beyond Omsk he will have very slight head winds, clear weather and good visibility, according to the weather bureau forecast.

Omsk, a modern city of about 115,000 population, is situated in the middle of a treeless steppe, on the right bank of the Irtysh river.

In that territory there often are strong winds. Snow six feet deep is not uncommon in the winter; in the summer, there frequently are sandstorms, borne on by the winds.

At the time he landed in Omsk, Matten had been on his way from Ford Street, New York, 73 hours and 14 minutes. He reached Omsk with a 34-minute head on the Post-Gazette record up to that point, but lost this advantage when he landed, for the record holders flew over Omsk without stopping.

Post and Gatty flew on 400 miles to land in Novosibirsk with an elapsed time of 75 hours and 36 minutes. The same day they proceeded to Irkutsk, landing with an elapsed time of 73 hours and 58 minutes.

Matten thus has 18 hours and 44 minutes to catch what rest he needs in Omsk. He has 1200 miles to equal the Post-Gazette record to Irkutsk.

Matten took four or five hours longer than anticipated to reach Omsk, his safe arrival indicated he stood a good chance of completing his flight within the record time of 4½ days.

FELT IN GAS FILTER

Matten, after he left Moscow, was sighted over Kazan two hours and ten minutes later. This indicated he was keeping to schedule on his hazardous flight over the Siberian Steppes.

Kazan is a little less than midway between Moscow and Sverdlovsk. Reports indicated he encountered extremely bad weather and headwinds.

A piece of felt, mysteriously lodged in the gas filter of his plane, came perilously close to wrecking his flight before it was half over. The felt was found a few hours before he took off from Moscow.

Now if ever got into the filter was a mystery. All gas that has been played in the plane since Matten left New York has been strained through a channel, making it virtually impossible for foreign matter to get into the tanks.

Matten made the discovery when he was about to leave Moscow. His face was a study as he passed his hand through his hair and remarked:

"Now, I'd have had a nice time if I had happened off with that."

"That's what almost gave me heart failure twice over the Atlantic when my motor cut out."

Moscow, June 6—"Smiling Jimmy" Matten, now holder of the world's long-distance solo flight record took off at 1:15 a. m. today (133 p. m. Monday, E. D. T.) for Omsk, 1213 miles eastward in Siberia, on the first hop of his attempt to circle the world alone in record time.

Refreshed by two hours sleep in a 3½-hour halt here, Matten got away into the dawn after effecting repairs to his red, white and blue monoplane "Century of Progress."

Despite the delay occasioned by the necessity of repairing two tanks apparently resulting from ice that formed during the transatlantic leg, Matten was 5 hours 15 minutes up on the mark established in 1931 by two other intrepid Americans: Wiley Post and Harold Gatty.

YAKS BETTER ROUTE. Upon his arrival from Omsk, Norway, yesterday, he was told by Soviet officials that over the shorter route he had planned to follow in Alaska via Yakutsk, he would encounter unfavorable conditions, so he decided on the regular air route to Omsk, 1450 miles east of Moscow.

"I fooled them, didn't I?" Matten commented when told of the anxiety felt when he was apparently overdue on his transatlantic hop, which he ended at Jonkstrand Island, off the Norwegian coast, at 1:15 a. m. E. S. T. Sunday. He flew to Omsk 16 hours and 43 minutes later, and at 12:40 a. m. E. S. T., he took off for Moscow, arriving here seven hours and 17 minutes later.

Sixty hours and 34 minutes after he left New York he pointed the nose of his plane towards Omsk.

He disclosed an ingenious arrangement for catching eastwinds while in the air.

"I fixed rubber bands to the stick from the compass rack, allowing sufficient margin to provide for a slight drift to the right," he explained.

"Then I cranked my legs and with my right foot put a slight pressure on the left rudder, which equitized the drift and kept the plane on an even course."

"That's how I got my cat nap."

FLED, NEEDS REST. Just before his departure, he was given a message from fellow townsmen in San Angelo, Tex., reading:

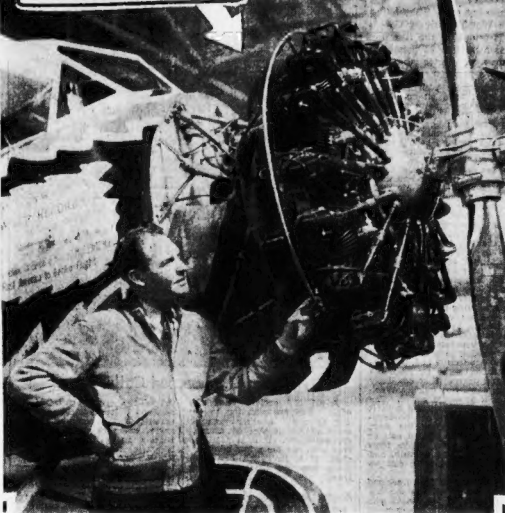

"Jimmy, Matten, round world flier, Moscow, Attahoy Jimmy, (Signed) San Angelo."

"I feel fine, but I would like to have about an hour's sleep," he said when he arrived. But he ate a large meal, talked enthusiastically with newspapermen, and went to sleep, leaving, however, that he he called in two hours.

It seems almost like being back home again, Matten told old friends among the correspondents, who with some 200 airport attendants greeted him. A physician examined him, remarking afterwards that "He is very tired and needs rest."

Falling Behind Time Record 3 More Ocean Flights in the Making

By The Associated Press

While the exploits of the American Jimmy Matten stirred the world today, Spanish, British and Italian aviators were completing plans for transatlantic flights.

Capt. Mariano Barbacan and Lieut. Joaquín Cortá announced they will be ready in two or three days for a projected hop from Seville, Spain, to Havana.

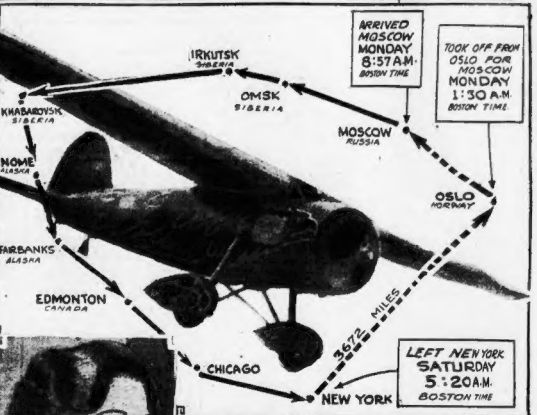

The famous flying Molisons, Capt. James A. Molison and his wife, Amy Johnson, will start from London for New York Wednesday if the weather is good. From New York they plan to fly to Bagdad and thence to England.

In Orbetello, Italy, 100 Italian aviators are tuning up more than a score of planes for a mass flight, by stages, to Chicago, to start in a few days.

Beer Brings $82,850 to N. H. for Licenses

Concord, N. H., June 6.—A total of $82,850 for licenses and permits to sell 12 beer has been received by the State Liquor Control Commission since May 23, it was announced here today.

The commission announced it did not expect material additions to revenue from this source but that the state tax of 11¢ a barrel would continue to benefit the state treasury.

HALFWAY MARK NEAR

Matten's plane, the "Century of Progress," and the route he has flown so far and where he hopes to go. Today he landed in Omsk, 54 minutes ahead of Post and Gatty's time. But he lost ground there because, in their trip, they flew right over Omsk to land in Irkutsk. Matten is resting today in Omsk and hopes again tomorrow. He may decide to keep right on over Irkutsk to Khabarovsk and make up his lost time.

CHIEF INSISTS VETERANS NOT MISTREATED

Attaches of the Veterans' Bureau and members of the special field finding bureau have been in Washington for several days, investigating charges in the Veterans' Bureau, compensation today denied the use of "harmful methods" to war veterans.

Answering alleged complaints of veterans that disabled men were barred from a section of the bureau yesterday when they arrived to present their cases, it was decided the door at the rating department is kept closed to prevent visitors from coming in and causing with the clerks, or driving away.

It was also explained, to prevent a direct visitor. Members of the inquiry board decided it had not been their intention to prevent war veterans' personnel from entering cases. Since Saturday, however, only three or four have been interviewed, although hundreds of veterans have called on their own volition, and their presence has simply delayed the work, it was said.

OBJECT OF INQUIRY
In the absence of Chairman George E. Brown of the inquiry board James H. Hays of the Veterans' Bureau made the following statement:

"Our board has not come here with authority to re-classify claims, but to get a cross-section of cases to report to Gen. Hines who, in turn, will report to the President the effect of recent cuts in compensation."

"We have studied the gunshot wound cases and others. In some instances we have found that the new instructions have not been followed as intended, and we are requesting all of these details."

CHAMBER IN VIEW
Meanwhile the Boston Chamber of Commerce had sent to all Massachusetts members of Congress today a telegram, expressing confidence that President Roosevelt would correct compensation injustices. The telegram, signed by President Frederick S. Snyder of the Chamber, said:

"Boston Chamber of Commerce upon recommendation of its committee of World War veterans urges direct of Congress to prevent to independent officers appropriation bill. Important issues are first whether grant of authority to President to deal with veterans' benefits should be curtailed and second whether nation can most added to the burden."

"We believe nothing has occurred to warrant such curtailment. Inquiries in use of this authority are bound to occur in initial stages because of complexity of old structure of veterans' benefits. We are confident that President will correct them, having already indicated his disposition to do so."

"Continual amendment goes too far in liberalization with great injustice to all citizens who will have to pay the cost."

mult planes and bombs on short notice.

From the crew's nest on a floating ship in the location can be 10 or 15 miles. From the "watch-tower dirigible," the officer with a high-powered glass could sweep a wide section of the ocean. It is a cheap dirigible, with the air for its foundations, helium gas for elevator power, able to remain on duty for months with a capable experienced crew.

The nonsense of sending a trained airship commander to do "sea duty" on a floating ship instead of keeping such a man at what he does best is idiotic beyond words.

As well compel an air mail pilot to come down at intervals and ride the pony express with mail bags. The President, presumably, will end that folly before ships are needlessly lost.

Continuity of service is essential in airship command, and airship development being in its infancy.

There is talk of "great expense" in connection with dirigible building. That means short memory. Eight to ten millions a year would take care of all costs, and provide the country with a dirigible fleet of greater value than might mean the billions saved in cost of war, or in fighting off war.

This nation in a hurry, when the last war started, spent more than half a billion on a shipyard, and with a dirigible fleet of greater value than might mean the billions saved in cost of war, or in fighting off war.

Forefront is desirable, and when you have had the experience that this nation has had, with a war year patriot and others, respect of airship, submarine and fast cruiser building would be a crime against the country.

There is no thought of attacking or hurting anybody else of keeping this country safe from attack or hurt.

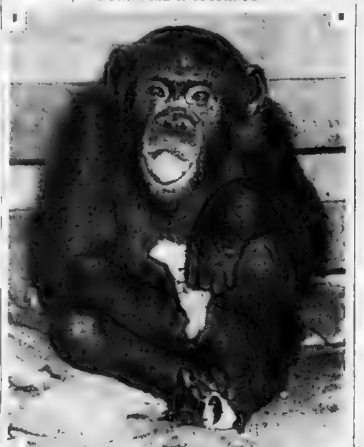

If we had 20 lighter-than-air ships, cruising off our east and west coasts, with 100 fast dirigible pursuit planes at hand, a fleet of variable submarines accompanying them, and two or three thousand heavy-bombing fighting planes ready to meet the enemy close in shore, the enemy would stay at home, and that is what we want.

MONKEY BUSINESS AFOOT!

DOWN LIKE A COCOANT

HER MANNERS ARE GOOD

Police of Greater Boston are a bit dubious about monkeys today. Yesterday one got up into a tree in Milton, and John Sullivan, his 15-year-old owner, called the Animal Rescue League, the fire department, ambulances, police and a no end of volunteers in a vain effort to get him down. Finally Motorcycle Officer Joseph Duggan gave the tree a mighty shake and down came the monkey—like a cocoanut. Police nerves were hardly soothed when the British freighter, New Columbia, tied up at Pier 3, East Boston, from Africa's West Coast. Aboard is Jenny, a very friendly chimpanzee with a cordial handshake for visitors and best of table manners. But police hope she prefers a cage to a tree. (Boston American photo.)

Boys, Birds, Beasts in Boston, or How to Get Into Print

A canary which thought it was a carrier pigeon, a pet monkey which thought he was a circus performer, chimpanzees which everyone thought was a perfect lady, and a boy who tried to rob a bird's nest are combined today under the head Birds, Beasts and Boys in the Day's News.

Taking the ladies first, Jenny, an educated African chimpanzee, arrived aboard the British freighter New Columbia at Pier 3, East Boston today.

Jenny is regarded as one of the most intelligent chimpanzees in captivity. She uses a knife, fork and spoon at meals, carefully brushes her teeth after meals, and does about everything a human being does except to ask persons if it's hot or cold.

Well, Mr. Jenny behaved like a perfect lady until a photographer tried to take her picture. The sight of the camera, or was it the cameraman, sent her into a fury. She screamed, dashed about her face, made faces at the photographer.

Finally, after one of the ship's crew explained to Jenny that it was all for a picture, she calmed down and allowed the picture to be taken.

The canary, which thought it was a carrier pigeon, is the pet of Joseph A. Harron of Somerset St., Quincy. The amateur flew away yesterday, and perched in the garden of Mrs. Augustine J. Leonard on Butler at today, the canary was returned to Harron.

The pet monkey, owned by John F. Sullivan, 10, of Brook Rd., East Milton is back in his cage today.

FORD MARCHERS HELD IN CAMP

Detroit, June 6 (AP)—A badly erected camp of army tents and cots at Dearborn city limits today told how a group of marchers led by police said, by Communist sympathizers was required without disorder in an attempt to present a list of "demands" to the Ford Motor Co.

The camp was set up last night by police after a few hundred of an original 3,000 marchers, barred from entry to the suburb where the Ford plant is located, had moved into a field and announced they would camp there "all summer, if necessary."

At the scene of the camp, four persons were killed in the March 1932 demonstration directed at the Ford Company.

"Demands" the marchers want submitted to the Ford company include higher wages, relief for unemployed and equality for negro workers.

Unity Not Discord Is Plea to Congress as Hour of Adjournment Nears

By Richard Washburn Child

James Arthur and Diplomat and former U. S. Ambassador to Italy, leaves for Europe today.

Let us forget on this such of June.

As Congress is rushing to adjourn the quietest and wisest Democratic voices on Capitol Hill are making their feelings to remember—

That the United States is now a Republic.

That the press is normally Republican.

That the last election which swept Democrats into a majority was an election of the people.

That Roosevelt represented the people's decision to have dynamic leadership, he changed the slogan——defense to those of aggressive work.

That this is the only reason by which the Democratic majority will remain on the Hill.

That Congress is a bad administration, especially at the moment it is doing the job for six months.

That Congress is not capable of being single responsibility.

That we have seen enough of the stupidity of Congresses which have listened too much to organized minorities wanting to raid the Treasury and unbalance the budget.

That we have seen enough of the devastation of prohibition.

That income taxes which become necessary to pay unjust claims when Congress votes gratuities leave knife wounds, but when unemployed individuals are at stake and the taxpayers—and we are all general assessors—their recovery is the most palatable method.

Let us forget!
AT THE OTHER END of Pennsylvania ave. in the White House there must be some realization of the following:

That we were promised attention to America first.

That, whatever the future, no past adventure of any President in history, never the American people anything or nothing a President anything.

That Europe wants more of us than we want of Europe and that American soil is the place to discuss it.

That we cannot preach disarmament long if our sermons only empty the paper-mache temple of Greive.

That we cannot preach economic peace long if our volunteer service in London only squares the jaws of European powers in London who perhaps have in mind only wiping off peace debts on top of what we did in wiping off war debts and secondly want us to give by lower tariff walls without getting anything in return.

That our foreign trade important as you can paint it, it is only a tiny fraction of our national business. That in the emergency we need only discord, and that any attempt of the President's agents to see us up to Europe will mean not only discord but a national revolt.

That Wilson put his arms out only to have them tied and so his influence almost overruled, not only abroad but at home. That today the President has great world influence—his arms and hands are STILL FREE. This is June 6, 1933.

Reach for a Lucky for always Luckies Please!

Mildness...fragrance...purity how real they are in Luckies!

Have you ever happened to wonder why "Toasting" is so important to Lucky Strikes? It's really on account of you. For "Toasting" plays a bigger part than you might think in making Luckies so mild and fragrant and pure. Remember, your cigarette comes in rather close personal contact with you, and if it weren't for "Toasting's" purifying heat, even Lucky Strike's choice tobaccos could scarcely be as mild, so pure. So you see what a big part "Toasting" has in making "Luckies Please!"

$652,875 Earned by Schmeling in Ring
U. S. Gets Share
By JACK CONWAY

America boxing fans have done pretty well for Max Schmeling of Germany, who sweeps into action against Max Baer, puncher from California, in a 15-round bout at the Yankee Stadium, New York, on Thursday night. Inside of four years Schmeling has earned $652,875 in the ring. Most of Schmeling's bouts were staged during depression years, but this fact did not interfere with his earning powers to a great extent.

I find that most people are interested in what Baer and Cupid are making. Love, hate and money, any newspaper editor will tell you, are things that most people like to read about. In the matter of money Schmeling received $5000 for knocking out Johnny Rizzo, $75,000 for knocking out Paulino a pasting, $178,000 the night he won the world's heavyweight championship, claiming foul in his bout with Jack Sharkey, $133,000 for knocking out Gene Tunney, $170,000 for his tussle with Sharkey last June, $41,875 for his win over Mickey Walker, and a modest touch of $30,000 for boxing exhibitions.

Of course Schmeling did not end up with a net of $652,875. I understand Joe Jacobs and Billy McCarney, his managers, receive 40 per cent of his earnings. Then there are sparring partners, trainers, gym overhead and other expenses. Taxes in the United States, New York State and Germany took a huge slice of Schmeling's earnings.

A boxer must settle with Uncle Sam before he is allowed out of the country. The State of New York also taxes all non-residents for money earned within its borders. There have been exceptionally heavy income taxes in Germany since Schmeling hit the big money.

After all these various cuts, Schmeling probably ended up with $200,000 for himself. He tells me he has his money in Switzerland. Switzerland has weathered the financial gales down through the years.

Schmeling-Baer Bout Has Caught on With Public

I look for the Schmeling-Baer bout to draw at least $200,000. This will mean $75,000 more for the German, as he is getting 37 1/2 per cent of the gate for his end.

The Battle of the Maxes has finally caught on with the public. Jack Dempsey was obliged to overcome numerous difficulties. The Hitler ban on the Jews caused him the most embarrassment. New York Jews demanded a boycott on Schmeling. Dempsey brought out the fact Baer is a Jew, and that Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, is a Jew. I don't believe Dempsey used to say he had Jewish blood in his veins, along with that of his Irish, Scotch and Indian ancestors. Jack always felt an international makeup gave him greater appeal at the box office.

Incidentally, Baer's father is a German, but his mother is a Jew. Naturally, Baer's dad has not had any play in the publicity. He is a butcher in Omaha City.

Baer's Chances of Win Depend on Punching Power

You can write it in the book that Baer has not a chance of outpunching Schmeling. The German is by far the better boxer. In the event the contest goes the full distance of 15 rounds, it is almost a certainty that Schmeling will win. I believe Baer realizes this fact. He openly admits Schmeling is his superior as a boxer.

Schmeling was a novice as a boxer in his first bout with Sharkey, but since then has improved a great deal. He developed a fairly good left hand, while he reduced the swing of his right hand. Schmeling has terrific power in his right. His right hand punches knocked out Mickey Walker.

Baer is anything but a finished boxer. He parades to close quarters with his chin stuck out. He has a foolish idea nobody can hurt him. I have seen that type of fighter before, and sooner or later they end up on the floor. The law was never made to take mighty right hand punches. It is better to have a good left hand. Baer is not an exception to this rule. The fighters who have lasted for eight or ten years learned how to protect themselves from unnecessary punishment.

Baer has a terrific offense. He packs a knockout punch in each hand. His work against Ernie Schaef indicated what a great puncher he is.

Schmeling will be wise not to risk exchanges of punches with Baer. If he does he will be courting a knockout.

If Baer should win he would prove a great box office attraction.

He is different from the rank and file of fighting men. He is a throwback to some of the oldtime stars who broke many of the rules of training and still won.

Baer has spent his money faster than he has made it. He has had his battles with Cupid, and has lost most of them. Schmeling furnishes the money angle for this fight. Baer the love part. Hitler has dropped a dash of hate into the big show.

This combination always holds public interest and Thursday night's match is no exception. I shall be in New York and Thursday night's match is no exception. I shall be in New York and Thursday night's match is no exception. I shall be in New York and Thursday night's match is no exception.

and in Wednesday's Boston Evening American I shall name the probable winner of the heavyweight jam. I shall borrow the famous magic coin, and so cannot go wrong.

Random Shots at the Target

Ed Don George will find it mighty difficult to avoid a meeting with Henri DeGlane if the latter wins from the Blue Masked Marvel at Paul Bowser's show at the Boston Garden on Friday. DeGlane is working a tale of some extra pounds he has accumulated during his layoff in France. The latest report has Joe Malcewicz as the Masked Marvel. . . . Don Almy thought Charley Hanson was the Blue Masked Marvel up to the night the former opposed the man of mystery.

Crane Among 6 Americans in British Amateur Golf

London, June 6 (AP)—An American delegation of six, headed by George Dunlop, Jr., will seek the British amateur golf championship starting at the Royal Liverpool Club June 10.

Entered along with Dunlop are: Joshua Crane, Brookline, Mass.; veteran William Handal, of the Royal Golf Club, New York; and three American residents of England, Charles and Robert Evered and Douglas Grant. The title now held by John De Forest, ex Canadian, is expected to be won by Dunlop.

FRARS PLAY B. C. SUNDAY

Boston College has agreed to battle it out with Providence College by playing off for the Eastern College championship on Sunday, June 10, at Providence, according to John D. Cullen, executive manager of sports of Boston College.

The Frars 64 won last Saturday over the Eagles created a tie, the Eagles having won the last game, 32-23, three weeks ago.

After the game Saturday Graduate Student J. J. Finn of the Dominicans asked Curry for a game. Sunday, however, was the only date that either team would be able to meet before the start of the season.

John Frank McCrehan will continue as captain of the Frars for the third year. The team will remain as president of the club and Hal Weaver as manager. Quincy is in a tie with Worcester for the league lead.

Miss Howe Enters Park Track Meet

Barbara Howe, 16-year-old girl athlete of Brookfield who was a standout in women's track circles last season has entered both New England championship events, the 50 meters run and the 100 meters run, at the Park Track Meet and field meet at the University of Massachusetts on Saturday.

Chairman William P. Long received her entry today and in the one mile was the entry of Milton Nelson the diminutive New Bedford sprinter who will run in the 50 meters dash handicap.

The Boston Swimming Association, Medford Girls Club, Ontario Club of Malden, Brockton Girls Club, Alpha A. C., Leavenworth A. C. and the Bridgewater Girls Club are to be represented in the meet.

Fraily Grapples Bey on Revere Mat

Pat Fraily makes his season's first follow-up Ring fight at Alex McLeary's weekly wrestling show at Revere Beach tonight when he meets Rex Salamone. Benny Grapples, John Schell, Norm Denny, Joe B. Russell, George Littlejohn, Al. Peckham are the other bouts on the card.

Columbia Pitcher Signs With Yanks

New York, June 6 (AP)—Roy White, star right-handed pitcher of Columbia University, today was signed by the Yankees. He was the best third baseman in the league to pull the club back into the pennant contest.

QUINCY LOSES N. E. NINE

Claude Davidson, president of the New England Baseball League, announced today the franchises of the Quincy club had been shifted to Nashua, N. H., and that the latter team would play Taunton in its first game tonight.

Davidson said the shift was made because of the lack of an enclosed playing field in Quincy. He said Dr. John T. Saunders would remain as president of the club and Hal Weaver as manager. Quincy is in a tie with Worcester for the league lead.

Stumbling Stars Make Major Races Gamble

Dale Alexander, American League batting king last season with a mark of .367, is hitting at a .260 clip these days, when he isn't sitting on the bench. Frank Lefty O'Doul, National League monarch of swat a year back with an average of .369, is now awaiting a .250 and is a substitute outfielder.

On the other hand, Johnny Hodapp of the Red Sox has batted a .349 average of .219 up to .369. Papper Martin of the Cubs has climbed from .234 to .253 in less than a year and Randy Moore of the Braves now has never finished a campaign in the "hot class" swinging above a .310 mark.

Suppose "Swat" had a .367 batting average in 1932. He would have been a star. He would have been a star. He would have been a star.

In the seventh round of the Wollaston-Charles River match, played at the Newton course, the outstanding attraction was the four-ball program.

The Municipal Mountaineers are in second place, with a six-point lead over Charles River and only four and one-half points away from the championship, due to the acquisition of a new player, Ed. L. Smith, who is as good as the defending champion.

Charles River did not measure up to expectations and has been in the losing column in the last two rounds. River took Woodland over the juniors, 11 to 4, to climb into third place.

TODD SHIFTS LINEUP

Charles River still entrains hopes of carrying off the title, but in order to realize this feat must turn in a decisive victory over Wollaston this afternoon.

Because of the absence of Bobby Hutton and Charlie Crowley, Capt. Russ Todd has been obliged to make up his line-up with the following: Francis Shea, the club champion and Johnny Harbort are the Wollaston No. 1 team assigned to take on Ed. L. Smith and Eddie Murphy, one of the strongest teams in the league.

Wollaston and Francis O'Leary, Jr. must now win No. 2, which breaks them against Frank Craven and Eddie Lowery, and Morgan Sargent and Morgan Sargent are pitted against Emory Stinson and Blaney.

Bill Hutton and John Black play Earl Bonner and Don Ricketts and Russ Todd and Johnny LaRocca, the No. 3 team, meet George Finney and Win Cobb.

CHARLES RIVER STRONG

Charles River fields a strong team and has the advantage in the difference of five points, but will retain their hold on second place.

While the battle for second place is going on at Charles River, River River encounters Wollaston. Although in sixth place, Wollaston is represented by a very strong and dependable team than is indicated by its position in the race.

Brackets of winner Bill Blaney and Eddie Stinson or Blaney and Ed. Smith are the best of the team for River River.

Team for River River, the Hervey brothers and Win Cobb, are the best to be fought to meet. However, there is too much strength distributed through River River to expect any hope for a Wollaston victory.

Charles River will play at Woodland and Weston is the host to Winchester.

BOMBARDIER BAER FINISHES FIGHT REHEARSAL

Here's Mrs. Baer's curly-headed clowning son, Max, right, going through his dress rehearsal for the big fight with Max Schmeling Thursday night in the Yankee Stadium. He doesn't seem to have a care in the world as he roars and grunts through a final carefree passage of dukes with his partner.

Max will be an 8-5 underdog in the battle with the Teuton, but there'll be plenty of monetary support riding on the Californian, or "The Handsome Kid from the Coast."

'Twixt Tee and Cup

By BILL GRIMES

One of the largest galleries that has followed a four-ball match in years was expected at Charles River this afternoon when Wollaston and Charles River were to clash in the battle for second place in the Boston League.

Wollaston members have been behind Capt. Russ Todd's team since the opening match and their support has had an important bearing on the success of the Mountaineers.

From now until Thursday, numerous sub-par rounds will be reported at North Shore Golf Club where Gene Sarazen will defend his U. S. open championship. But as soon as the pressure is applied the pre-championship stars will face right out of the limelight.

Unless North Shore is too long for his game, Charlie McAndrew should fare as well as possible at Commonweath. Although he broke into the 80's new and again, the sniffling player is consistently in the 90's.

Herbert J. Quinn, president of the United States Golf Association, will arrive in Chicago tomorrow night from Minneapolis. Freddie McCormack, manager of the M. G. A., will attract the largest field in the history of the U. S. open.

No championship would be complete without the genial Mr. McCormack.

Donahue Open Fans
The Donahue brothers, Dave, Jack and Henry, from Vesper, rarely miss participating in open tournaments. They don't win many trophies but get a great kick out of open competition and playing various courses.

According to a well founded rumor, Miss Irene Hicks, former national champion, will not play in the Eastern or the Grismen Cup matches next week at River Burn.

With many of the low handicap players competing, there will be a merry battle for low gross in the annual two day Sharon Country Club open, which starts on Friday. The first prize for Class A is a custom made suit but the other trophies are more valuable and appropriate than the usual run of awards.

R. G. "Bunny" Hawkins, Jordan Marsh Co., will be in charge of the Retail Trade Board tournament at Wollaston on Friday. Due to the renewed interest which the Retail Store Golf League has created the largest crowd in years is expected at Weston.

But for the fact that Miss Jean Berthiaume is his partner, the handsome young man will be the handsomest of the supporting chassis.

MULDOON RITES ELABORATE

Purchase, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—An elaborate rite for William Muldoon, died Saturday at the age of 88.

A list of 50 honorary pall bearers included Governor Herbert H. Lehman, Alfred E. Smith, Postmaster General James A. Pauley, Ethel Root, Arthur Brisbane, Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney, Lionel Barrymore, Dr. Will Hopper, and a host of political and sports celebrities.

The funeral was to be held at 11 a. m. from the health farm Muldoon conducted here for 30 years.

There will be 30 bouts in all. Ray Souleymon vs. Freddie Moore and Charlie Manoli, middleweight champions, vs. Gil Gross will be the handouts of the supporting chassis.

MIXES BEST UP; TEUTON STAYS 2-1 CHOICE

New York, June 6 (AP)—Trained to the minute, Max Baer and Max Schmeling can afford to take things easy until they square off for their 15-round heavyweight duel in the Yankee Stadium Thursday night but there was no rest in today for Promoter Jack Dempsey.

There's no doubt Jack has worked harder the last couple of months in his new role than he ever did when he was getting ready to defend his heavyweight championship.

STADIUM SHUTT TODAY
The major task confronting Jack today was the converting of the Stadium into a fight arena.

James H. Scar, head of the New York weather bureau, says Thursday "probably" means a fair.

It is, in indications, were a crowd of close to 60,000 would pour into the stadium for the match. Dempsey said today he had $100,000 in hand and another $50,000 in reservations. The expected last-minute rush for tickets was expected to add the receipts close to $200,000.

Betting on the bout has been very light with Schmeling a steady 2 to 1 choice.

Paul Runyan Threat in Open---Sarazen

This is the third of a series of articles written by Gene Sarazen, British and U. S. open golf champion, who defends his U. S. title this week at the North Shore Club in Chicago.

By GENE SARAZEN
American and British open champion

Chicago, June 6—North Shore Golf Club's lush fairways trembled today under the savage shock of a barrage laid down by competitors in the National Open championship which begins Thursday.

Breakfast had no sooner been consumed than hopeful began streaming in the club first. With few exceptions all 150 entrants were present and giving the course a real going over.

Practice rounds are seldom a barometer of success. The manner in which a man hits the ball is a better indicator than actual results and I am convinced that the man who will be a dangerous contender is Paul Runyan.

Runyan is a much improved golfer. He had become heavier, his style is more pliable and his self-reliance is robust.

If the course plays faster during Thursday, Runyan will have no slight advantage if he continues to drive as he is right now.

Another who is playing grand golf is Max Smith, the aging Carolina campaigner.

Walter Hagen is another whose age is beginning to take toll. Water is verging on 40 and not improving. Which makes me think that this is to be a younger's tournament. The Runyans, Dempsey Shuttles, Craig Wood, and Gila Jutra, with flaming ambitions, are going to be difficult to stop.
